

COLORADO SPRUCE
 Pyramidal shaped evergreen with steel blue to blue-green foliage. Widely used in the landscape industry. Very hardy.
Zones 2-7

WHITE SPRUCE
 Short blue-green needled tree that grows at a medium to fast rate. Survives well in drought conditions. Popular as an ornamental and windbreak tree.
Zones 2-6

FRASER FIR
 A soft, waxy, aromatic, deep blue-green needled fir tree with a silvery underside. Grows best in cool, moist, well-drained soil conditions. Not tolerant of wet sites or heavy clay soils.
Zones 4-7

CANAAN FIR
 A true fir genetically intermediate between Balsam and Fraser, but is a little more tolerant of wetter soil and drought conditions. Late bud break and adaptability to a variety of soils makes it an excellent landscape tree.
Zones 3-7

NORWAY SPRUCE
 Majestic dark green evergreen tree of conical shape with draping branches. This fastest growing spruce is an excellent specimen and widely used in forming windbreaks. Grows well in most conditions.
Zones 2-7

BLACK HILLS SPRUCE
 Slow growing conical evergreen tree, densely set with dark green foliage. Short-needled with more dense, compact growth habit than White Spruce. Used as an accent or windbreak.
Zones 2-6

CONCOLOR FIR
 Also called White Fir. Densely branched pyramidal shaped conifer with rubbery, soft, powder blue-green needles about 2 inches long. Similar in appearance to a Blue Spruce, but needles not sharp. Distinct citrus aroma. Withstands heat and dryness better than other firs and grows best in well-drained soils. Popular as a landscape specimen.
Zones 3-7

SERBIAN SPRUCE
 Tall spire-like tree having two-toned needles that shimmer from a distance. Attractive upswept pendulous branches and upright symmetrical shape. Produces purple cones that mature brown. Popular as a landscape tree.
Zones 4-7

WHITE PINE
 This rapid growing five-needled pine is pyramidal shaped when young, becoming umbrella shaped with age. Needles are long, soft and light green. Widely used as a specimen or backdrop for flowering shrubs. Shapes well.
Zone 3-8
